I'm not a bot

Tableau coupe du monde 2024 pdf

The 2024 Futsal World Cup has come to an end with Brazil emerging victorious and France finishing in fourth place. The tournament saw four groups of five teams each, with Brazil dominating Group B and subsequently making it to the finals. France had a decent run, but ultimately finished fourth. The group stage saw some notable performances, including Costa Rica's 5-2 win over Paraguay and Thailand's 10-0 thrashing of Cuba. Afghanistan had a surprise run in Group C, beating Angola and Ukraine to finish third. In the knockout stages, Brazil faced Morocco in the semifinals and won 3-1, while France lost to Argentina 2-3. Ukraine finished third after defeating France 7-1 in the bronze medal match. The final saw Brazil defeat Argentina 2-1 to claim the championship title. Interestingly, the International Bandy Federation (IBU) revealed the complete and detailed schedule for the next season's Futsal World Cup - a move that's unusual for them, as they usually keep it under wraps until much later. The upcoming biathlon season will kick off in Finland with mass-start events from the first stage. The Grand Bornand in France returns to the calendar for the final stage of the 2024 season, featuring sprint, pursuit, and mass-start events. In January, the traditional triptych of Oberhof (Germany), Ruhpolding (Germany), and Antholz (Italy) will take place. The World Championships are scheduled to occur in Lenzerheide, Switzerland, in February. The final block of the season will consist of Nove Mesto (Czech Republic), Pokljuka (Slovenia), and Oslo-Holmenkollen (Norway) for the finals. Here is a breakdown of the stage dates: * Stage 1: Kontiolahti, Finland + November 30: Mixed relay simple (13:30) + November 30: Mixed relay (16:30) + December 1: Men's relay (13:30) + December 1: Women's relay (16:45) + December 3: Individual men (16:20) + December 4: Individual women (16:20) + December 6: Sprint men (16:20) + December 7: Sprint women (17:10) + December 8: Mass-start men (14:30) and mass-start women (17:10) * Stage 2-9: Various locations The full calendar can be found on the website. Pour la première fois de l'histoire, les équipes féminines se présenteront en finale du tournoi. Douze équipes nationales féminines et seize équipes masculines s'affronteront entre le 24 juillet et le 10 août 2024 pour la médaille d'or. En 2024, les meilleures joueuses féminines joueront à Paris après trois semaines de compétition, tandis que l'équipe masculine gagnera contre elle la veille. Les matches doubles dans le Tournoi Olympique de Football Féminin se terminent également en une nouvelle approche. Le président de la FIFA et membre du CIO, Gianni Infantino, a déclaré : "Nous sommes fiers d'annoncer que le tournoi féminin ne comportera plus de matches doubles et que la finale clora pour la première fois les épreuves de football aux JO." Les calendriers prévoient également des matchs à Paris, Bordeaux, Lyon, Marseille, Nantes, Nice et Saint-Étienne. L'équipe masculine française débutera son tournoi le 24 juillet à Marseille, tandis que les Bleues entreront en lice le 25 juillet à Lyon dans l'enceinte qui a accueilli la finale de la Coupe du Monde Féminine en 2019. Get the latest updates on every match and result in real-time with Eurosport's comprehensive coverage of the Women's World Cup 2023! Stay informed about the top players, transfers, and news from around the world. Check out all the rankings, including the top scorers by season, as well as the latest winners of each competition. Missed a match? Catch up with recaps and highlights from recent games. Be front-row center for stunning goals and thrilling team performances! Take a look at the complete calendar to ensure you don't miss any matches. Make Eurosport your go-to destination for all sports news, including football, tennis, cycling, snooker, and more.